Description

The Phanteks' Halos RGB fan frames complements any system build with ambient illumination. Using high density LEDs, the Halos can illuminate different varieties of fans including high performance fans made from PBT material. The Halos RGB fan frames bring elegance and style to your system without compromising performance.

Features

The Halos RGB fan frame is developed to illuminate fan blades from different varieties of material/color with a bright ambient glow. This means even high performance fans made from PBT material, like Phanteks' MP and SP fans, can now be illuminated in any color. With the Halos there's no more compromise on performance when RGB illuminated fans are desired.
