Description

The Nexus 120mm Real Silent Case Fan is the ultimate solution to bring some extra airflow in your quiet computer. Don't you just hate it when you have build a nice and quiet computer and it turns out that your high-end components are producing so much heat the temperatures in your computer case are getting too high? The Nexus Real Silent case fan is the solution for you. It provides the extra airflow your pc may require without being noticeable noise wise.

The Nexus 120mm Real Silent case fan is equipped with a double sided 4-pin power connector and a 3-pin motherboard connector. This allows you to connect the case fan directly to the power supply or to the motherboard.

The latest version of the Nexus Real Silent case fan comes in black and white and inside the package a set of 4 ultra-soft silicone Fan Mounts are supplied.

The Nexus Real Silent 120mm Case fan has a fan speed of 1000 RPM (+/-10%). The fan speed is fixed at 1000 RPM at 12V.

The airflow of the fan is 36.87 CFM (62.61m3/hour). Note that for good and efficient cooling the static pressure is also an important value. Be assured that the Nexus fan has very high static pressure so work very effectively.

The Nexus 120mm Real Silent case fan produces only 18 dB(A)* measured in a chamber with 15 dB(A) background noise. We have compared this case fan with the quietest case fans available and we simply cannot find another one this quiet!
