Description

The Noble Breeze NB02 is a multifunctional notebook computer cooler that combines networking, stereo input/output, and USB connectivity into one device. Its design helps to reduce desktop cable clutter, increase expansion capability, and create a cooler environment for a notebook computer. This is accomplished with an all aluminum constructed base positioned at 8 degrees for the best ergonomics and viewing angle. The NB02's included dual silent fans can be remounted easily so that they can blow either into or away from the base of the notebook computer. There is also a fan switch for turning off the fan during light usage situations. The NB02 can provide power for charging mobile handset or MP3 battery even without a computer connected. For those with lots of mobile devices in addition to a notebook computer, the NB02 is a must-have product.
