Short Description

EK-CoolStream Classic SE 360 slim copper radiators are designed for optimal airflow throughout the radiator surface with medium density fin structure. Built for EK-Vardar 120mm high static pressure fans, these radiators are optimized for maximum heat dissipation across entire fan operational range thus delivering exceptional performance at both low and high airflow operation.

Description

surface with medium density fin structure. Built for EK-Vardar 120mm high static pressure fans, these radiators are optimized for maximum heat dissipation across entire fan operational range thus delivering exceptional performance at both low and high airflow operation.

EK quality level, best price-performance ratio to date and unique minimalistic design make these EK-CoolStream Classic SE series radiators a perfect choice for any computer water cooled system. 27mm thick design allows for utilization even in the space-constrained cases while allowing great cooling potential due to the high-performance core engine.

This product features two G1/4 threaded ports. EK recommends the use of EK compression fittings.
