Short Description

This is a new professional, 45°Rotary Adapter from Barrowch with a smooth surface finish and it means it swivels 360 degrees to give you the perfect positioning of your fitting in relation to the tubing. The excellent internal water flow ensures high through-put of water, thereby reducing internal resistance. These new fittings are brass with either a matte black or chrome silver color featuring an exquisite check pattern that delivers a comfortable grip. These fittings are smooth due to multiple machining processes that produce absolutely no deformations and an outstanding texture!

Low water resistance

Unique appearance

High throughput structure

高通过性结构

The excellent internal water flow structure ensures a high-throughput water flow, thereby reducing internal resistance.

Proportional optimization

比例优化

A more comfortable grip can be created by optimizing that proportion of the joint body and the bottom rotate body.

Brass body shows texture

黄铜本体 质感尽显

It uses high-quality brass and matches the smooth appearance to highlight the texture of the joint body.

Unique shape

独特造型

We are going to change the previous design style and boldly innovate the appearance to make it more in line with different cold water schemes.

Strict selection criteria

严谨选材

It is made of high-quality brass as a whole and is made by multiple processing procedures with the characteristics of high strength, no deformation and outstanding texture.
