Short Description

10 port PWM fan hub with direct SATA input and neat cable management

Description

Commander FP – 10 Port Hub for PWM Fans

The new Thermaltake's PWM fan hub Commander FP is capable of powering up to 10 independent PWM fans which allows users to saturate the case with fans while maintaining superb cable management. Sporting a blue LED indicator light, the Commander FP ensures the inside of your case looks just as good as the outside, making it the best choice for cooling performance enthusiasts or users seeking no-fuss installation!

10 Independent PWM Fans Supported

Capable of connecting 10 PWM fans for speed-control* simultaneously, the Commander FP enables users to optimally expand cooling capability within the chassis and enjoy greater system performance.
* Only the channel port with glossy side support RPM signal detection

Convenient SATA Power Input

Designed with a stable SATA power input in mind, the Commander FP safely and reliably powers up to 10 PWM fans simultaneously*. Direct power from PSU prevents stray current when the fan hub is in use.
* Channel port with glossy side powered directly by motherboard

Neat Cable Management

Featuring a blue LED indicator for access indication, Commander FP provides superb cable management which allows users to experience the unrivaled airflow and water cooling capabilities.

High Quality Symmetrical Design

Sporting a symmetrical design, the Commander FP uses high-quality textured plastic in its construction. Arc trim on both sides gives the Commander FP a sleek, modern look that matches its superior performance.

Easy Application

The Commander FP ships with 5 reusable beaded cable ties, 2 Hook-and-Loop Fasteners, and one PWM signal cable that let users keep the cables neat and tidy and hold the fan hub steadily in place.
