Description

The superior gaming experience QPAD®'s XT-R utilizes a highly durable plastic designed to give you the critical edge in control and precision. To maximize your performance, the Carbytek™ surface strikes a perfect balance between friction and glide that allows for fast and stable action. Its unique winged shape stretches the sweet spot, providing a wide area of movement for pinpoint accuracy. Sleek and portable, the XT-R is the ideal mousepad for hardcore gamers as well as for graphic designers, architects and others who need a high quality, high performance mousepad that delivers a winning performance.

Gives you a winning performance!

“I am proud to be a part of the development of QPAD. The XT-R represents more than just a mousepad. In its look and feel and performance, it represents the spirit of gaming—what real competitive gaming is all about—high status! The X-TR has an aggressive and extreme appearance and great packaging, giving it a really trendy impression, making it the iPod of gaming.” says Johan vesslan Ryman, QPAD business consultant, former pro gamer.

“The XT-R not only fully meets the high technical demands of the hardcore gamers in terms of surface glide and precision, but it represents the cutting edge of what I believe gamers want and what I think is the mouse pad of tomorrow. I believe this shows the commitment of QPAD towards the gaming community by providing them with what they need” says Jean-Pierre TaZzMAjazz Ceccaldi, QPAD Community manager
