Details

The EK-Pro CPU WB SP5 Rack Ni + Acetal is a dedicated enterprise-grade water block with 1U chassis compatibility specifically developed for AMD® socket SP5-based processors. Code-named “Genoa,” these AMD CPUs come with up to 96 cores and 192 threads and have a TDP of up to 360W. These specifications render these processors perfect for liquid cooling, especially in a dual-socket motherboard environment. The new server/workstation-grade CPU water block is compatible with 1U chassis type and suitable for use in server racks.

Features

The EK-Pro CPU WB SP5 Rack Ni + Acetal water block features a total of four G1/8" threaded side ports for low-profile usage.

This enterprise cooling solution is built with performance, reliability, serviceability, and no compromises in mind. This water block meets these demands with top thermal performance and unparalleled connectivity, making it the perfect choice for liquid cooling high-density computing systems.

The EK-Pro CPU WB SP5 Rack Ni + Acetal water block features a precisely machined copper base (coldplate) made from the purest copper available on the market and is treated with nickel electroplating. The top is CNC machined from durable black POM Acetal, and the hold-down bracket is made of laser-cut stainless steel.
