Description

Evercool introduces a newly launched notebook cooling pad--Hermes. Hermes overthrows the impression of big, square and neat traditional notebook cooling pad. Its unique design will definitely catch the eyes. The modeling concept of Angel's wings emphasizes that Hermes is as light as the wing and easy to carry for users.

In addition, multi-air inlets and outlets optimizes airflow for the steady operation of laptops. Moreover, the hidden holders in the ergonomics design make users more comfortable while using Hermes. Users can adjust the angle arbitrarily according to their needs or using habits. Furthermore, the USB cable storage space at the bottom solves the arrangement problem for users.

Besides its distinctive design, Hermes has a perfect cooling efficiency and its worth is higher than its relative cost for users.
